

California Small Business Association endorses Dave Jones for Attorney General

Sacramento, CA - The California Small Business Association (CSBA) this week officially endorsed Dave Jones for Attorney General. CSBA has 203,000 members statewide and advocates successfully for small businesses at the state and national level.

In their formal endorsement letter to Insurance Commissioner and Candidate for Attorney General Dave Jones, CSBA President Betty Jo Toccoli wrote, "You have demonstrated your commitment and leadership to serving the small business community in this great state of California. Your concern and support of the small business community is recorded and your commitment to partnering with us in the issues important to small business is inspiring. We pledge to be a resource to you of proactive small business ideas and strategies."

"Small businesses are the backbone of California's economy," said Dave Jones, candidate for Attorney General. "I'm truly honored to have the endorsement of the California Small Business Association, which represents and fights for small businesses who make California one of the largest economies in the world. I am proud of my track record of supporting small business owners, who provide jobs and a livelihood for millions throughout California."

Other recent endorsements for Dave Jones for Attorney General include the San Jose Mercury News, the East Bay Times, the Sacramento Bee, and the Fresno Bee.
